Here Is Foot Comfort

This is a brand claim to make, but the Scholl "Foot-Eazer" eases feet, provides absolute means of foot comfort.

When the arch of the foot is not properly supported—and the modern shoe does not give this required support—the feet tire and ache and pain and become feverish and then there is a twitching and a seeming strain on the limbs, and frequently a feeling of fatigue over the whole body.

The arch of the foot, where the body's weight is carried, needs a rest. THE SCHOLL "FOOT-EAZER" supports the arch or instep and takes away all muscular strain, equalizing the weight and bearing.

Made of German Silver springs, leather covered. Self-adjusting to any foot. Can be changed from one pair of shoes to another and can be worn with comfort by anyone.

Women who do housework, or clerks in stores or offices, or anyone whose occupation requires them to do much standing or walking should buy a pair of "Foot-Eazers" today.

You cannot have restful feet until you wear them. For sale by SHIRLEY & SHIRLEY, 39 East Adams St.

NEW MEXICAN CONSUL HERE

Senor Don Tristan Garza Gastillon Takes Over Office Lately Held by Francisco Olivares—Is From Laredo

Senor Don Tristan Garza Gastillon was in the act of taking charge of the Phoenix office of the Mexican consulate yesterday afternoon when a representative of the Republic, accompanied by an interpreter called for an interview.

Senor Gastillon is a middle aged gentleman of extreme refinement of feature and of most courtly manner. He received the representatives of the press with courtesy but also with silence—as soon as it became known they wanted to know something intimate about the political situation in Mexico City.

"Puede decirnos si hay cambios radicales en la situación política en la ciudad de Mexico?" he was asked, and the reply came almost like an explosion.

"Absolutamente, no," Senor Gastillon took charge of the office and business of Mexican consul at Phoenix yesterday afternoon following an all day conference with Senor Don Francisco Olivares, the former incumbent. There was a rumor abroad yesterday that the new consul carrying the brevet of the Huerta government was not received with cordiality by the outgoing representative of the republic to the south, who held office under the appointment of President Madero. With many protestations and polite waves of the hands, Senor Olivares and his successor assured the callers that there had been no dispute over possession of the office. Both declined to speak on the subject of politics as they are played in the Mexican capital.

Senor Gastillon comes here from a thirteen year service as Mexican consul at Laredo, Texas. He is a man of great education and refinement and well versed in matters of political and business procedure. The position of consul at Phoenix is an important one, for being a border state, Arizona has a great deal of business such as would properly come under the authority of a Mexican representative of that kind. Senor Gastillon is accompanied by his wife and child. They are temporarily at the Alturas.

RUNNING A BLUFF WITH AN EMPTY GUN

Othello Smith Made it Work Once But Failed Next Time.

Any man who waxes a revolver in the face of another is a fool but the man who makes a demonstration with an empty revolver is a doubly foolish fool. That is what Othello Smith is. He had been working for Henry Renaud near Alhambra and wanted to quit. Mr. Renaud did not want to spare him just at that time and Smith saw or thought he saw a way to make Mr. Renaud welcome his absence.

He drew a revolver and threatened to shoot, after which Mr. Renaud was willing to dispense with his services but he telephoned to the sheriff's office describing the assault upon him.

Deputies Sears and Olen went out and found Smith, a small bullet-headed foreigner. One of the officers covered him with a gun and told him to elevate his hands. Instead, he went for his hip pocket but before he drew his gun he noticed that both officers had him covered. Then his hands went up and he was relieved of his revolver which was found to be empty. He was brought to jail and was asked at the sheriff's office why he had invited extinction by making fool plays with an empty revolver. "I was just runnin' aploof," replied Smith.

CLEANUP ORDER BRINGS ARREST

Liveryman Neglects Warning of the City Sanitary Officer and Then Ignores Summons to Court—Finally Arrested by Police

A general cleanup campaign under the auspices of the Phoenix Health department is bearing fruit, but the work is not without its unpleasant features. Yesterday afternoon there appeared in police court the proprietor of one of the largest livery stables in this city to answer a charge of maintaining a nuisance. According to Bert O. Brown, the sanitary inspector, the liveryman had been notified several times that he must clean up the premises about which refuse and filth had collected until the odor was discernible for a considerable distance.

Instead of following the suggestion of the city sanitary officer, it is alleged, the liveryman neglected to clean up although making numerous promises to do so. On Friday a warrant was issued for the man's arrest, and upon his request his case was continued to yesterday afternoon. When the court was in session, the liveryman failed to put in an appearance. An officer was sent to locate him and found him at the circus grounds about to bring a load of passengers up town. He was taken in custody and brought before the court.

Following the introduction of the evidence which was practically admitted as correct by the defendant, Judge Thomas reserved decision until Thursday, indicating that if the premises were in sanitary condition before that time it might mitigate against the severe charges.

Brown stated last evening that he was acting under orders of the city health officer and that he was expected to push the work of cleaning up objectionable properties throughout the city without respect to the persons affected. He said that there was nothing personal in the single arrest made and that there was a probability that other arrests might follow unless warning was taken from the first case in court.

AUTO SKIDS AND MAN IS HURT

Walter Wish of Arlington Is in Hospital With Broken Leg Following Peculiar Accident on the Yuma Road

Walter Wish, connected with the Independent Meat Market of Arlington, is a patient at the Sister's Hospital, suffering with a badly fractured leg, many body bruises and perhaps internal injuries, as a result of a peculiar automobile accident which occurred yesterday morning about eight miles west of Phoenix on the Yuma road. Dr. Louis Dysart, who is attending the injured young man, stated last evening that it is impossible as yet to definitely determine the exact extent of the injuries, but is of the opinion that he will speedily recover.

According to the information Wish gave yesterday afternoon, he was making his way to Phoenix to attend the circus. When about eight miles from town he discovered an automobile approaching and running at a high rate of speed. Believing that a collision was inevitable the machine in which Wish and a companion were riding, was suddenly swerved to one side. Just as the machine left its direct path the front wheels encountered a muddy place in the road and an instant later the big machine had turned turtle, with Wish underneath.

When the car had been righted, it was found that Wish was suffering with painful injuries. He was hurried into a farm house, and such attention given as was possible and afterwards brought to the office of Dr. Dysart, giving no more than a cursory examination, Dr. Dysart ordered the man removed to the hospital as quickly as possible.

At the hospital last evening it was stated that the young man was resting as easily as could be expected. Both bones of the leg were broken and splintered and there is fear that he may be permanently crippled.

LOOKING OVER THE PEN—Representative J. R. Kerr of Yuma, Sam B. Bradner of Cochise, J. Tom Lewis of Gila and Sam Vaughan assistant sergeant at arms of the senate went to Florence last evening for the purpose of looking over the state prison there. They were met at the Florence depot by Warden Sims of the prison and spent the night as his guests.

SUFFRAGISTS HAVE

ment I leave the court, I will refuse to eat, I will come out of prison, dead or alive, at the earliest possible moment."

Justice Lush, summing up told the jury that Mrs. Pankhurst's speeches were an admission that she had incited to the perpetration of illegal acts.

Mrs. Pankhurst almost broke down when the jury pronounced its verdict. Leading over the front of the prisoners' enclosure she said:

"It is impossible to find a different verdict. I want to say to you and to the jury, that it is your duty as private citizens to do what you can to put an end to this state of affairs."

She then repeated her determination to end her sentence as soon as possible, saying:

"I don't want to commit suicide. Life is very dear to all of us. But I want to live until justice has been done. I will take the desperate remedy other women have taken and I will keep it up as long as I have a ounce of strength."

"I deliberately broke the law, and hysterically and not emotionally, but for a set and serious purpose. I honestly believe this is the only way. This movement will go on whether

I live or die. These women will go on until women have obtained the common rights of citizenship throughout the civilized world."

Justice Lush said: "I must pass a severe sentence on you. If you would only realize the wrong you are doing and use your influence in the right direction, I should be the first to use my best endeavors to secure a mitigation of your sentence. I cannot and will not regard your crime as trivial. It is a most serious one."

Immediately after the sentence of three years fell from the judge's lips the women in the court room broke out in a chorus of "singin' and out-rage." With Mrs. Pankhurst's defiance of the judge, "I'll fight, fight, fight," still ringing in their ears the suffragettes went wild.

Standing on the seats, they shrieked and shouted anathemas at the court. For three minutes they held full sway in the court room. The police were powerless.

The judge's warning that he would commit the entire party of women to prison for contempt fell upon deaf ears. The women mocked the judge and laughed at his threats and they finally left the court singing the suffragette "battle song." Such a scene never before was witnessed at the Old Bailey.

Outside the court room the militant women defied the police, "Arrest us, take us to jail, what do we care?" they shouted.

The street crowd greeted the suffragettes with a mingled chorus of groans, hisses and boos.
